WALT: represent our view points through Art

What is social media?

What is climate change?

What do you see in these photos?

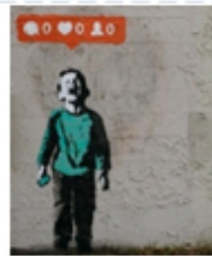

WALT: represent our view points through Art

Activity 1:

Express your opinion about which images are commenting on social media influence and which are commenting on climate change. What is your take on these images, what do they make you think of?

Social Media

Is social media a positive thing?
Jot down the positives and any negatives you can think of.

Can you confidently state that social media is purely positive?

Why might street artists use their work to comment on social media?

What do you think these street artists (one is Banksy) think about the use of social media?

Climate Change

What do you already know about climate change? (Think back to our current affairs lessons on Greta Thunberg).

How do these street art depictions symbolise what Greta is telling us?

What is a concept map?  (Watch video!)

Activity 2:

Create a concept map on either social media OR climate change demonstrating all of your viewpoints on either topic.

What do you notice?

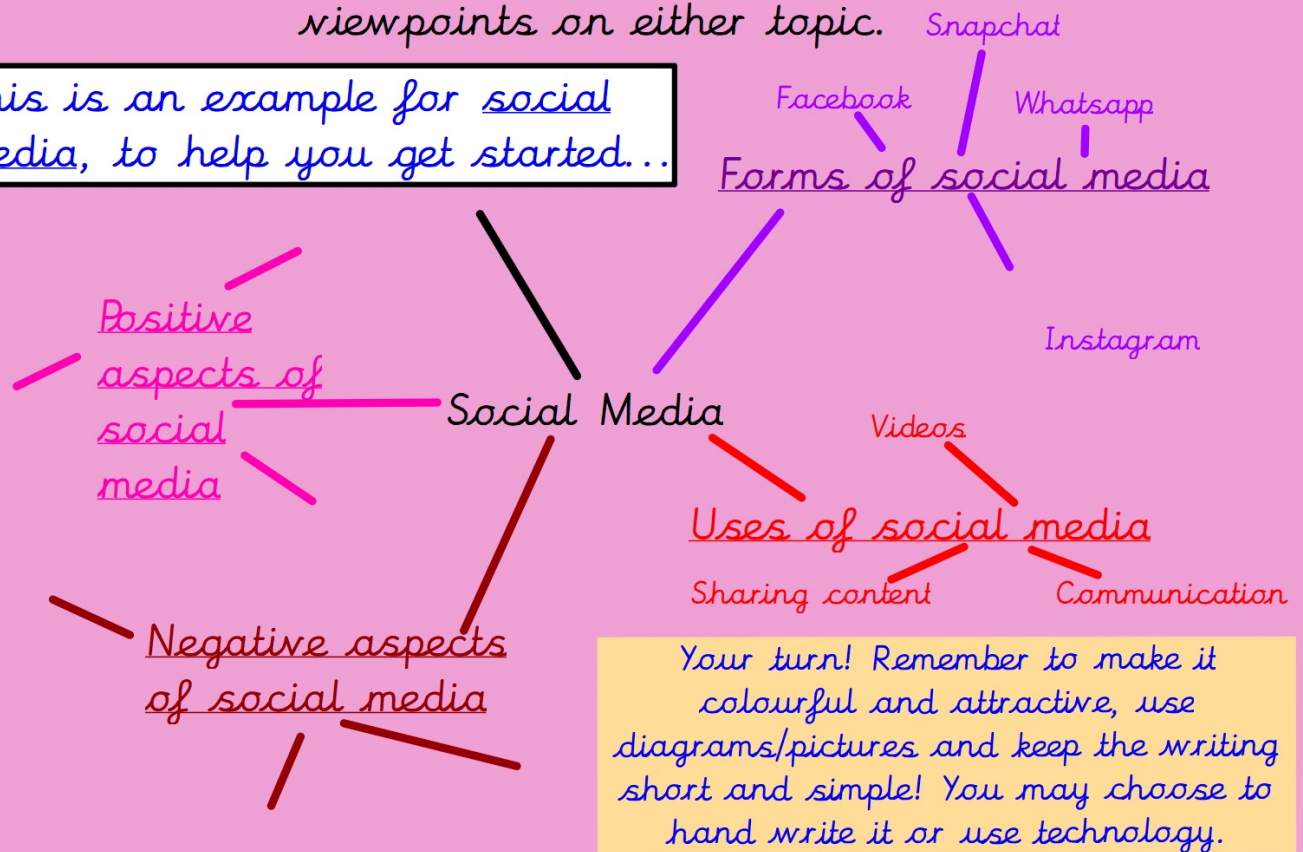

- Colourful
- Attractive
- Simple! - Not loads of detail.

Activity 2:

Create a concept map about one of the two topics: social media OR climate change demonstrating all of your viewpoints on either topic.

This is an example for social media, to help you get started...
