

Rumblestar: Chapter 24

Q 1: Casper and Utterly finally find the familiar face they've been looking for but are surprised to find it's a clock face, not a human face.

What are the two clues they find, that tell them the Midnights have been here?

'And not without you and Arlo either.' Casper narrowed his eyes at the scratch marks lining the hollow where the pendulum hung. 'Only a talon or a claw could make those marks.'

Utterly nodded. 'And look! There are feathers scattered about the clock, too. Black feathers.'

From her pocket, Arlo gulped.

'I don't think this clock is just a portal from the Faraway to Rumblestar,' Casper said. 'I think Morg is using it to send her Midnights from Everdark to Rumblestar, too, and the Midnight pretending to be Frostbite thought I could help Morg because she wants to use this portal to join her followers here . . . Didn't you say that Everdark is a forest located somewhere between the Faraway and the Unmapped Kingdoms?'

Activity: We say goodbye to Zip the hot-air balloon in this chapter.

Create your own design for a hot-air balloon, including any magic or secret hatches you would like to have in yours.

