Listen to the Parable of the Prodigal Son

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=DJgROx4wFKM>

Last week we looked at what forgiveness means and whether forgiveness is always possible. Is the father right to forgive his son in this parable or is the son beyond forgiveness? Record your thoughts below.

Why do you think the father forgave his son even though the son had left him and spent all of his inheritance?

Why do you think the older brother was angry and unable to forgive his younger brother?

How do you think you would feel if this happened in your family? Would you forgive your family member like the father did or do you think would be angry and unforgiving like the brother. Explain your reasoning.
