

WALT: identify the features of a text

The top of the canopy isn't for youngsters...but father's not looking and the temptation to join the others is irresistible. She'll need to be careful, a fall from here will mean certain death. It's the first time she has been as high as this on her own. As she climbs higher, the branches get thinner and thinner. Her tail has caught her but now she's stuck in mid-air unable to reach any other branch. Father, however, was watching, he's big and strong enough to form a bridge with his body so that she can climb to safety...lesson learned!
