

Formal vocabulary Uses longer 'uplevelled' words e.g. instead of using 'said' it might use 'announced'. Does not use any contractions e.g. uses 'cannot' instead of 'can't'.
News vocabulary Words that you would often find in a news report e.g. 'reported' or 'witnesses'.
Fronted adverbials Adverbs at the start of a sentence, which add more detail to the verb in a sentence. News reports often use adverbials of time e.g. 'yesterday' to show when the events happened.
Co-ordinating conjunctions Used to join main clauses.	for and nor but or yet so
Subordinating conjunctions Used to join main clauses and subordinate clauses.	if since as when although while after before until because
Direct speech Quotes of what people said exactly, using direct speech punctuation. For example, "I found Granny inside the wolf's stomach," reported Miss Riding Hood.
Reported speech Reports what someone says in the writer's own words. It doesn't use direct speech punctuation. For example, Miss Riding Hood reported that she found her Granny inside the wolf's stomach.
Third person Pronouns that talk about other people e.g. he, him, his, she, her, they, them, their.

Formal vocabulary Uses longer 'uplevelled' words e.g. instead of using 'said' it might use 'announced'. Does not use any contractions e.g. uses 'cannot' instead of 'can't'.
News vocabulary Words that you would often find in a news report e.g. 'reported' or 'witnesses'.
Fronted adverbials Adverbs at the start of a sentence, which add more detail to the verb in a sentence. News reports often use adverbials of time e.g. 'yesterday' to show when the events happened.
Co-ordinating conjunctions Used to join main clauses.	for and nor but or yet so
Subordinating conjunctions Used to join main clauses and subordinate clauses.	if since as when although while after before until because
Direct speech Quotes of what people said exactly, using direct speech punctuation. For example, "I found Granny inside the wolf's stomach," reported Miss Riding Hood.
Reported speech Reports what someone says in the writer's own words. It doesn't use direct speech punctuation. For example, Miss Riding Hood reported that she found her Granny inside the wolf's stomach.
Third person Pronouns that talk about other people e.g. he, him, his, she, her, they, them, their.	