

As the snow falls, the night becomes a dark room. The houses covered in a soft coating of heavy snow. A little girl skipping through the alley notices a chalk board with names of children.

As she approaches the chalk board the names become more infocused to see. She started reading the names that covered the chalkboard. As she does this behind her is a fearsome looking shop in the face of a monster. This particular monster had saliva strands dripping down the back of it's mouth.

Alma is her name, there were more names too: Stanley, Elena, Ivan and Suzanna. After she has written her name she drops the chalk and the doll appears in the shop window.
