The Game

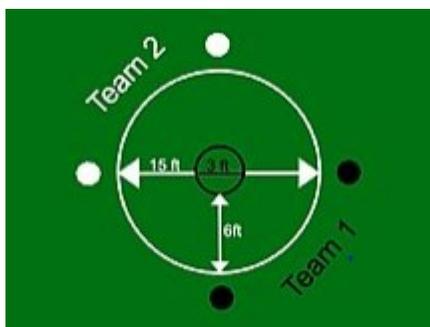

Roundnet (also commonly known as spike-ball) is a net sport. The game is played between two teams, usually with two players each. Players initially line up around a small trampoline-like net at the start of a point. The game starts with a serve from one team to another, and teams alternate hitting the ball back to the net, and ends when the ball falls to the ground or an infraction occurs.

Similar elements to volleyball and four square, played between 2 teams of 2 players. Only 3 touches per team before the ball has to hit the net.

Starting / Serving

Players must line up like this.

One player serves—hitting the ball onto the net to the other team

Spiking

Striking the ball with an open hand onto the net. Players need to consider the power and angle of the spike

Passing

Underhand pass—hits the ball up. Palm up, fingers slightly apart & relaxed. Use legs to generate power. If the heel of the hand is used there is a lack of control.

Overhead Pass—hands above shoulders / by ears. Palms facing out, fingers pointing up
