Dear Mum,

I am writing to ask you if Sarah can come to stay for a sleep over on Saturday night. As a just and generous parent, you always want the best for your children and I truly believe that having a friend to stay at the weekend would be an enormous benefit to your loving daughter.

Firstly, Sarah's mother is working at home all weekend. This will mean that she will be stuck inside during the day. As she lives in a small, cramped flat, she will have no hope of enjoying the beautiful sunshine or the healthy fresh air during her time off from school. If she stayed at our house, she would be able to appreciate the large spacious garden and get some exercise that will keep her energised. Don't you think good health is important for children?

Secondly, we can use our time inside to complete our homework. This means that instead of frustratingly bothering you while you are trying to work hard, Sarah and I can share our ideas together. You will be able to get much more of your tasks completed throughout the day. We shall work hard, we shall work accurately and we shall work determinedly to produce learning that will make our teacher proud!

I think you can agree that Sarah staying for a sleep over will benefit us all in so many wonderful ways. There really is no better choice for how to spend the weekend. Don't you agree?

Yours Faithfully,

Annie
